A MISSING CHILD.

Sought on Two Continents, and Found at Last.

A Faithful Mother's Reward-Gen. Funk Defunct-The Gallows Gets Its Due-The Week's Failures-Irrigating Canals - A Kleptomaniae in Limbo, Etc., Etc.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.-A special from Toronto, Ont., says: "About a year and a half ago a boy named Henry Ernermann was brought from England with a party of children and placed in abome at Galt. The child was a fair-haired, blue-eyed vonth of ten years, whose parents were induced to part with him by promises that he would be educated and brought up well. He was taken by a Dutch farmer, who appreciated his slight German accent and frankness, as a chore boy. The work was to much for h m, and after a few weeks he began to yearn for his home and friends. In a short t me this yearning overcame all other feelin and he ran away from his master, returning to the home at Galt. After wandering aimlessly around for two weeks he pleaded, with tears in his eyes, to be sent home. The authorities told him that it was impossible, and set him to doing light work around the house. Suddenly, however, he disappeared, and an active search falling to discover his whereabouts. ful play was suspected, but the police were unable, although inquiries were made far and wide, to gain any tidings of him. The boy's parents, who were residing in England, were informed of their son's disappearance, and the search was given up. The boy's mother were stricken with grief upon receiving the news, and she implored her husband to visit Canada and endeavor to find her boy. But they were poor and found some difficulty in gathering enough money to pay their passage. This was at last accomplished, and upon arriving at Montreal they began the sad task of finding the missing child. The German consuls at Montreal and Torato with communicated with, and they too, joined in the search. Notices were inerted in the papers of every city and town in Ostario, but without success. The iather's health soon broke down under the great mental anxiety caused by the loss of his son, and he fell sick and died several months ago. This double affliction only spurred on the widowed mother to redoubled energy in her search. By toiling early and late she managed to scrape together enough money to come on to Toronto. where she resumed the search. Every village and town in Waterloo county was visited, she sust ining herself by peddling pin-cushions and other small wares.

Broken-hearted, she was at last compelled to give up the task and retuned to the city. On Tuesday last she heard that a boy answering the description of her son was in the employ of a farmer near Oshawa. and she had just returned home from the postoffice where she had posted the letter inquiring about the youth in question, when the door spended and her long lost son walked in. The joy of the mother at once more clasping in her arms her son may easier be imagined than described."

Death of Gen. Funk. NEW YORK, Oct. 19 .- The announcement of the death of Gen. Aug. Funk last night created great surprise and sorrow among the Germans in this city. Gen. Funk was forty years of age and was born in New York. He went to the civil war as a lieutenant in the Scott Life Guards, and returned as a lieutenant-colonel. Subsequently he succeeded Henry as captain of Company H in the Third eavalry. In 1874 he was elected colonel of the Eleventh regiment, and he afterward became brigadiergeneral of the Second brigade, First division in the State militia. While the troops were parading in Prespect park in 1877 tien. Villmar, of the Eleventh regiment, refused to obey the orders of his superior officer, and his men supported him. Gen. Funk ordered his arrest, and of the whole regiment, which was escorted to the Ludlow street jail. Shortly afterwards Gen. Funk assembled the Ninety-sixth regiment at midnight and took possession of Col. Villmar's armory by force. Col. Villmar preferred charges against Gen. Funk, was compelled to resign. Gen. Funk was formerly proprietor of Irving Hall, and was a factor in the Tammany Hall politics in Tweed's time. He leaves a wife but no children.

Explated His Crime.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.-Edward Hovey, the slayer of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Fanny Vermilyea, was hanged in the Tombs prison this morning. Notwithstanding the physician's treatment and the efforts of his spiritual adviser the murderer spent a restless night. Two deputy sheriffs kept constant vigil. Hovey looked more dead than alive when he arose to dress himself. When his breakfast was brought him Hovey dragged his chair toward the table upon which the meal was placed and seated himself in the chair with a heavy sigh. He testitated, drew back from the table and sail that he would eat nothing. Father Durauquet, R.v. Mr. Gilbert and Deputy Warden Finky prevalled upon Hovey to sip the coffee. Soon after arising he was given a dose of chloral and he now wanted whiskey.

It was agreed he should have some stimulant before being led out to the gallows. Hovey had to be supported from the cell to the gallows. He presented an awful picture of despair and woc. The moment he was placed under the lope his legs were tied, the black cap drawn down, the noose adjusted, and quicker than it takes to tell it, the card was cut and Hovey was hanged. What They Will Stand By.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 .- On Monday morning a lady, giving her name as Mrs. Rebecca Hill, registered at Taylor's Hotel, Jersey City. She was well dressed and had every appearance of being in good circumstances. She was about thirty years old. Her hair was black and her dark brown eyes were fringed with raven tashes, while her eyebrows were arebed. She was pretty and her manner most agreeable. She remained in the hotel near the terry until yesterday morning. After breakfasting she went to the hotel office, and saying to the clerk that she was going to Chicago, asked how must she was in debt. Her bill was made out and presented to her and she readily paid it with money from her pocketbook. She then requested that her trunk be elecked for Chicago, and about 10 o'clock the trunk was sent to the Eric depot. She left shortly after. A few minutes after her departure a chambermaid went to the hotel office and told Mr. George De Rever, the proprietor, that the bedclothing in Mrs. Hill's room had mysteriously disappeared. He laughed, and asked what she meant. The girl then said: "Well, that woman carried the mattress, the counterpane, bed-quilt, and even the sheets off with her, and it's a new set." He investigated, and then went to the telephone and asked the station agent at the Erie depot to have the woman arrested and her baggage seized. Upon examining it the missing articles were found and the woman was taken to police headquarters. When arrested Mrs. Hill had in her possession a railroad ticket for Chicago and $17. She admitted taking the articles, but said she was a kleptomaniae. She cried and endeavored to persuade the Superintendent that she was not accountable for her actions. She will be arraigned before Justice Davis to-day. When Mrs. Hill was visited last evening. she was sitting on a rough bed in a cold cell. Her head was bowed down on her breast, and her hands were clasped in her lap. She appeared to be most disconsolate. She at first refused to speak, but finally said: "I am English. I came to this country about three months ago and was on my way to visit friends in Chicago," "Are you married?"

"Yes, sir,"
"Well, where is your husband?"

"In England; but I have not lived with him for six years." "Have you no relatives in America?" "No, sir. I have friends. My family all reside in England, but I decline to say where. They would be disgraced if they heard of my being incarcerated for such a transaction. I assure you, sir, I am not responsible for having done as I have. I did not mean to steal the things. I do not know why I did. " and she burst into tears. The reporter then left. The police incline to the theory that the woman is really a kieptomaniae and believe that when she is arraigned to-day she will be discharged.

Irrigating Canals in Hansas. TOPEKA, Kas. . Oct. 19. -1. T. Soule, of Rochester, N. A DEFECTIVE MEMORY.

The Grand Jury Likely to be Edified With a Recital of What the Governor Doesn't

St. Louis, Oct. 19 .- It was late this morning when Gov. Crittenden took breakfast in the Southern. The cards of several gentlemen, among them Senator Heard's, were returned with the reply, "Not in." Shortly after 10 o'clock His Excellency appeared at the main entrance of the Four Courts. He was freshly shaven, and carried in his left hand a small, compact package. He did not wear a boutonniere. His air and bearing were not possessed of their usual consequential and confident nature. Upon reaching the third story of the building, where the deliberations of the grand jury are held, he was met and welcomed by Janitor Billy Waters. He acted as escort to the room of Assistant Circuit Attorney Sullivan, where His Excellency was safely ensconsed. The grand jurymen were somewhat tardy in assembling, and, consequently the governor was kept on the anxious seat for fully half an hour before he was ushered into the august presence of the grand inquest. After being welcomed by the members of the jury the governor was requested to hold up his right hand, and was sworn in by foreman Richeson to truly answer such questions as might be propounded, and also not to divulge his testimony. Having gone through this ordeal with a nervous movement of the right hand and a colorless check, he was requested to seat himself in a revolving chair at the east end of the jury room, between a double column of desks at which the jurors were scated.

His Excellency then made affirmation of his name, age, birthplace and official position. Jas. Johnson, the official stenographer of the Criminal court, who had recovered from yesterday's indisposition, was at hand and recorded the testimony. A. A. Oldfield, the stenographer who is said to have transcribed the stolen evidence of the iast grand jury, uneasily occupied a seat in the ante-room beside Hon. Jos. G. Lodge, the attorney. Both had been summoned as witnesses, and both were anxious to testify, but they were told to wait until later in the day. A woman in black and three deputy janitors who were siso in attendance as witnesses, were relieved from further attendance. Capt. McClay, the veteran deputy sheriff, who guards the sacred approaches to the grand jury room, received instructions to bounce every one from the antie-room, which he did, and tocked the door of that room against all inquisitive callers.

Good Law. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19 .- William G. Barrett is charged with embezzling $20,000 as the broker and agent of Capt. Augustus Boyd. The defendant was in partnership with a man named Cattell, who, it is said, fled the city. The defense claimed that Birrett could not be convicted for embezzing money as a broker unless it had been deposited with him for safe custody, and not as an investment. The Judge held this to be good law, adding that if $3,000 had been given the defendant, which was not part of the general running account, and had been misappropriated, as alleged, he thought Barrett should be held to answer the charge of conspiracy.

Pleaded Guilty-Sent to the Pen. SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 19 .- Dr. Michael Perin, of DuQuoin pleaded guilty to the charge of conspiring to manufacture counterfeit coin to Commissioner Bradford yesterday. Sheriff Malone took Wm. Gray, James Tabor, John Nelson and Geo. Smith, convicted prisoners, to the penitentiary vesterday.

Oct. 19.—Commissioner McFarland, of the General Land Offier, is continuing vigorously the crusade inaugurated against what are known as land cruisers in the West. Upon the report of the special agents of thirteen entries, the public lands of Washington Territory were vesterday held for cancellation. The Commissioner says all the parties in these cases appear to bave combined in the commission of fraud, the combination even extending to a notary, who witnessed the papers. All

Perryman, 641; Samuel Chicote, 608; Pur He Chee, 468. The vote was canvassed by a committee composed of the adherents of the three candidates. The agent says the returns from certain towns were thrown out because of the irregularities, but adds that the result would not be affected thereby, and warns the commissioners that a few Indians and negroes, at the instigation of designing white men. will complain to him of the result and charge unfairners to the unsuccessful can-

A SECRETARY TO A SECRETARY. The secondary of state has addressed a letter to the secretary of the Civil service commission in reply to an inquiry as to what branch of the service in the several bureaus of the state department will require examination for admission. He says, quoting ex-Secretary Fish, that the clerical force of the department is small and should have the personal confidence of the head of the department, knowledge of international law and practical familiarity with many foreign languages. A power of reticence is also a requisite which is ascertained only by test, experience or intimate personal knowledge of the party, and cannot be determined by any examination by a board. The secretary then goes on to say that it is necessary that most of the clerks in the Department of State should have at least sufficient knowledge of one or more foreign languages to read them in the original documents. Nevertheless, it is not absolutely necessary that every clerk should have this qualification, as his ability in other directions may more than compensate for its lack. But it is always necessary that twenty employes of this department should bave a fair knowledge of French, German, Spanish or Italian. "Under these circumstances I would suggest that special examination be given to all applicants who may wish to enter this department which shall conform in some measure to examination heretofore required in case of applicants for certain grades and consulates. and that are now required in case of applicants for clerkships." COMMISSIONER OF PENSIONS' REPORT. The report of the Commissioner of Pensions for the fiscal year ended June 30. 1883, shows that there were 303,658 pensioners on the roll at the end of the fiscal year. During the year the names of seventy-six. whose pensions had been dropped previously, were restored to the roll, making 38,-958 pensions added during the year, an excess of 10,645 over the preceding year. The average annual value of each pension is $106, and the aggregate value of pensions is $32,245, B2, an increase of $2,604,090. The amount paid for pensions was $60,064,009; exceeding the annual value by several miltion dollars. The bulk of this excess was on account of the arrears of pensions, covring a period prior to the allowance of claims. The appropriation for the salary and fees to pension agents was exhausted. and there is a balance due the agents. The whole number of claims filed since 1861 was 886,137, of which 510,938 were allowed. During the same time $621,073,297 has been pa d for pensions and the costs of disbursement. LONDON, Oct. 19. - News has just reached here of a terrible explosion of fire damp in a colliery at Wharnikiffe, Yorkshire. Thus far twenty miners are known to have been killed.

The News this morning, commenting on the strong closing of the stock market here last night, and the renewed activity caused by large purchases of American rallway shares on German account, asks if New York bears won't soon find out that the market has been over-sold; that American railway stocks have reached bottom prices and begin to repurchase, thus becoming bulls instead of bears.

A Disgrace to Our Nationality. NEW YORK, Oct. 19 .- Mrs. Langtry visited Wall street Wednesday to call upon her lawyers. She was recognized by the passers-by as she alighted from her carriage. A crowd soon gathered to hoot and stare at her. Street urchins called aloud for Freddie and pelted her with remarks more or less complimentary about her person. She was glad to escape into her counsel's office, where she gave vent to her dignation at the outrageous conduct of the crowd. As one who witnessed the scene said: "It has come to a pretty pass when a woman, whoever she is, can't be treated
